DELEGATE OURY

Interviewed on the "Big Captain" at Washington.

He Thinks Cleveland is a True Financier and will Give Satisfaction to the Entire People.

[Tucson Star.]

Hon. G. H. Oury, Arizona's Delegate to Congress during the last four years, as per announcement in the Star, returned home last Friday, accompanied by his wife and daughter. Since his return Mr. Oury has been besieged on all sides by the Democracy to know what he thought of the big captain of the Democratic party. Among other anxious inquirers was a representative of the Star, who learning that he had a few leisure moments nailed him for a time with a view of "prospect" the ex-representative's opinion on the administration, and Faber in hand, tackled him.

Reporter—"Well, Mr. Oury, you have seen President Cleveland and no doubt talked with him, and observed his way of taking hold of the affairs of the government; what do you think of him?"

Mr. Oury—"The selection of Grover Cleveland as the chief magistrate of the United States, in my opinion, was the best move the American people have made in many years. His strength of mind, his firm determination, his honesty and integrity of purpose to do right, render him eminently fit to take the helm of state, at this particular time. He has the disposition and ability, and will use both to correct the innumerable wrongs that have been fastened on the country by the Republican party during a reign of nearly quarter of a century. Under his administration, the government will be brought back to its pristine purity, when honesty, economy, and due regard for the interests of the whole people were the motives that actuated every one in official position—when the idea prevailed that office holders were the servants of the people, and not their masters. Such a state of things the people have long desired, and through the medium of President Cleveland's administration, I have no doubt their desires will be accomplished."

Reporter—"You have been at the capitol and traveling in the west and south since the inauguration, what is the general opinion of the Democracy as to the course pursued thus far by the President?"

"So far as I have been able to learn, the course pursued by the President meets with the approbation of the great majority of people, who seem to be inspired with great confidence as to the beneficial results that will flow from his administration. Of course there are, as might be expected, a few disappointed office seekers, who are chagrined and soured over their failure to obtain positions, and in their vexation seek to condemn the President, for what they deem his tardiness in making a clean sweep of all the Republican office holders in the country, and replacing them with Democrats, but to the thinking of the intelligent portion of the people, this appears as absurd as it is unjust, they recognizing the facts that it would be impossible for the administration without good cause, to make immediate changes in all the offices in the United States. Such a course would certainly endanger the efficiency of the public service and give just cause of complaint by the people. I believe that the President is moving as fast as the exigencies of the occasion require. He is cautious, and in the nature of things he ought to be; but that out of his abundant caution great good will result, I have no doubt."

Reporter—"Then, Mr. Oury, you think the country has struck a true fissure in President Cleveland?"

"Yes, that hits it exactly. There is certainly no reason why the American people should have any misgivings with regard to the actions of the administration. The acts of the President have so far been characterized by honesty, wisdom and prudence, and if he has stepped aside from the beaten path traveled by his predecessors, the result has proven that he has been guided by a superior intelligence, which will result in the end in the welfare and prosperity of the country. I hope to see before long the growlers cease their bickering, and like patriotic freemen join hands with the great majority of the American people in giving President Cleveland a hearty support in his efforts to place the government upon a solid foundation, looking to an amelioration of the people and their institutions."

Territorial Items.

The Fourth of July falls on Saturday this year, so the boys will have Sunday to "taper off" on. The total valuation of all property within the city limits of Prescott, is $1,200,000.

The following officers of Prescott Lodge, I. O. O. F., have been elected for the ensuing year: George W. Ford, N. G.; S. A. Logan, V. G. J. A. Fifield, R. C.; Samuel Carlin, T. The lodge is flourishing.

Jerry Sullivan, of Williamson Valley, Yavapai county, recently shipped three car loads of horses to Kansas City.

Wild strawberries from the Chino valley, Yavapai county, are now being gathered.

There are four mills grinding gold rock in Yavapai county at present.

The extension of the A. & P. railroad from Watterman to a connection with the California Southern at Colton is being rapidly pushed to completion, and by January 21st this company expects to land its passengers in San Diego without change of cars.

Territorial Prison Commissioner A. G. Hubbard made the trip from Yuma to Clip, on the Colorado river, in a small boat, alone.

The total indebtedness of Tombstone is $19,718.58.

Latest advices state that the colored troops are still safe. Geronimo has not yet been able to find them.

Nicholas Martinez, a Pima county rancher, was accidentally killed near San Xavier, by being run over by his own team.

The amount of property destroyed by the Phenix fire reaches $50,000.

Mineral Park will give a rousing Fourth of July celebration.

On Tuesday night of last week a fire occurred at Stockton siding, on the A. & P. road, burning up two box cars, one flat car, the ore platform and other property.

Miners are making from $5 to $50 per day in Mohave county, chloriding.

Apricots are ripe in W. H. Hardy's garden in Mineral Park, Mohave county.

San Diego has a species of bug that is explosive. They are etomological dynamiters.

A great deal of outside capital is looking for investment in Salt River valley. Agricultural resources and the mercy of God endureth forever. Many of the Tucson people are seeking the seashore to remain during the heated term. Here in Flagstaff we can give them cooler weather, more popular and more wonderful scenes from nature among our mountains and pine clad hills, than any seashore place on the Pacific coast.

The newspapers who favored the military protection and control of the Indians, now admit the failure of that plan and are ready to see a more vigorous and rigid policy used. One cannot expect to make a fox hound out of a scrub coyote, and the government ought to learn after numerous failures that the attempt to make civilized beings out of such wild savages as the Apaches, is a discouraging experiment.

If there is a Chiracahua Indian left, which there ought not to be, when the renegades are again secured, he should at once be sent a military prisoner to Angel Island in the Bay of San Francisco, there to crack rock for the government for the remainder of his days.

The completion of the railroad from Calabasas, through Tucson, Florence, Phenix and Prescott, to the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad, will make Arizona a state in a few years.

There is at present great activity all along the Gila valley farming district preparatory to the harvesting of crops. The crops, both wheat and barley, have not looked as promising for many years past as they do now. While the high water has caused great damage to the different irrigating canals, still all are in good order now, and the water for irrigating purposes is abundant.—Clifton Clarion.

Call and Settle.

All persons indebted to me by book account are requested to call at my place of business and settle, within the next ten days, or the accounts will be placed in the hands of an attorney for collection. Steith in time saves nine.

D. A. MURPHY.

IMPORTANT TRADE MARK SUIT.

Imitation of St. Jacob's Oil—An Injunction Prayed For.

An important suit, which will doubtless attract great attention all over the country, on account of the interest involved and the world-wide reputation of the parties bringing it, has been instituted in the Circuit Court of Baltimore city, by the proprietors of the famous St. Jacob's Oil, trading as The Charles A. Nogler Company, against Adolph C. Meyer & Co. The bill of complaint recites that the complainants are the manufacturers of a medical preparation, having curative properties and valuable as a remedy for the relief of pain. To distinguish it from those of a like kind, manufactured by other persons, the name of St. Jakob's Oil, or as translated into English, St. Jacob's Oil, was adopted as a fanciful designation of the article. In order further to distinguish it a peculiar red color was adopted for the preparation, which is one of its distinctive marks. Other indicia used by them were a cylindrical bottle of peculiar appearance with a certain label affixed thereto and with inscriptions thereon, presenting an appearance to the eye which from long use caused the whole package to be recognized at once as the liniment manufactured by them. They advertised the preparation at a vast outlay in many countries and in more than 20 languages. Within the wrappers of the bottle they also enclosed a circular, the whole forming a package of peculiar shape and appearance which was well known to customers and to the trade generally as the form of package used by them. Among other means by which they advertised the remedy were posters, placards, signs, illustrations and sentences. They charge that the defendant conceived the fraudulent design of appropriating to himself the benefit of their outlay, time and labor that he prepared a liniment so closely resembling the remedy prepared by them in odor, that only the most experienced observer can detect the difference. He selected the peculiar color of the remedy, known as St. Jacob's Oil, and imitated the name and various signs and symbols used by them. He used a bottle so closely resembling that of complainants, with a label having such a close resemblance to the labels on their bottles and affixed to the bottle as they affixed their labels that the whole package presented almost identically the same general appearance as the package containing the liniment made by them. Upon the label on the bottle, he printed the words "Salvation Oil," followed by the words, "The Greatest Cure on Earth for Pain," in close imitation in general appearance of the words printed on their label. He has also imitated on the label the paragraphs in different languages which they use, and within the wrappers he has placed a circular contrived and prepared in imitation of the circulars accompanying St. Jacob's Oil and in direct infringement of complainants' rights. He has also placed within the wrapper of the bottle, a folding corkscrew of the size, shape and form of that contained in the wrapper of St. Jacob's Oil, and has imitated the methods of advertising St. Jacob's Oil: instead of a monk sitting or standing having posted the representation of a nun, holding aloft in her hand a bottle on which appear the words, "Salvation Oil."

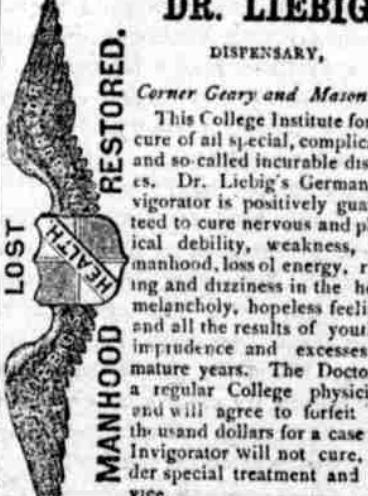

They charge, therefore, that he has with fraudulent purpose, intention and contrivance, put upon the market an article closely resembling in smell and color and in the mode of putting it up that made and sold by them under their trade-mark, and has succeeded in causing great numbers of people to purchase his goods under the belief that they are the goods known as St. Jacob's Oil, and has put them on the market at a much less price than that charged by complainants for their goods, so that numbers of people, both dealers and consumers, have been induced to buy them under the belief that they are St. Jacob's Oil sold at a reduced price. Complainants charge that they have been damaged by this means, and that the public have been deceived and misled. The bill prays for an account, and also that the defendant be enjoined from infringing the trade mark of The Charles A. Nogler Company in the manner and by the means set forth. Eminent counsel have been retained by complainants,—among them Marshall & Hall, Price, Steuart & Steuart, I. Nevett Steele, S. Teackle Wallrice, Rowland Cox, Wm. Pinkney Whyte and Bernard Carter. These gentlemen are all well known in their profession, most of them having a national reputation. Messrs. Marshall & Wallis have been engaged in some of the most important equity suits ever heard; Mr. Cox, of New York, Mr. Whyte, ex-U. S. Senator and ex-Governor of the state, and Mr. Carter is counsel for the Pennsylvania Railroad.

The secret service division of the Treasury department, whose chief duty it is to prevent counterfeiting of national bank notes, government notes, bonds and certificates, and postage and revenue stamps, is likely to have but little to do in the future in this line. Counterfeiting has been so difficult that the scoundrels are giving it the go-by. About the only counterfeit money seized by the secret service in the past two or three years, and that was only technically illegal, was a lot of advertising notes, which were printed to have an appearance of money, but which did not purport to be money. The average person has become so intelligent that he will not take counterfeit money if it is offered him, and the counterfeiters, knowing this, have given up the traffic. It requires such a great and expensive outlay to make money that resembles the genuine in the important particulars that counterfeiters have sought other occupations. Besides this the law is so severe and the penalty so certain that there is too much risk attending it. There is, however, some counterfeiting of the silver coins and this is about the only thing left for the secret service to look after.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and can not be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. Royal Baking Powder Co., 106 Wall Street, N. Y.

DR. LIEBIG DISPENSARY, Corner Geary and Mason St. This College Institute for the cure of all special, complicated and so-called incurable diseases.
